

When we all work together,
there are no boundaries.

From the Smokies to the shoreline, North Carolina is creating a new blueprint for economic growth. All seven regional economic development partnerships are working hand-in-hand with the North Carolina Department of Commerce. The goal: to enhance the economic vitality of the entire state.

With a shared sense of purpose and a consistent message, North Carolina can compete effectively for new investment and good, new jobs. At the same time, we can create economic development strategies based on regional opportunities. Statewide consistency. Regional flexibility. Together, there's no limit to what we can accomplish.
